Emmons loses superintendent

At the March school board meeting held earlier this week, Jill Ballock resigned as superintendent of the Emmons Grade School Dist., effective June 30.

Ballock cited personal and family concerns as the reasons for her resignation. The Emmons Board accepted Ballock's resignation with regret. Board President John Petkus stated, "We have been most fortunate to have Mrs. Ballock's professional contributions and leadership as part of our effort to give our children a meaningful education."

Board members made plans to meet before the end of the month to discuss superintendent search options.

Ballock, 46, a resident of Millburn, is completing her sixth year as Emmons superintendent. In 1988-89 she was president of the Lake County Superintendents' Assn.

In commending the school board for their "professionalism and support of programs," Ballock said, "I commend the teachers and support staff who approach their responsibilities in a student-centered fashion."

She added, "I feel honored to have been a part of one of the finest school districts in Lake County."

Meanwhile, the board is still studying its alternatives on ways of gaining "much needed" additional building space.

Dist. 34 has discussed consolidating with Emmons, leaving that decision up to the Emmons Board.

Emmons can also run a third referendum asking for permission from the electors to expand. Two previous referendums asking for additional building space were turned down by Emmons' electors.

5 Dist. 4 candidates approach final wire

Although none of the candidates for the two open Dist. 4 seats on the Lake County Board are from the Village of Antioch or Antioch Twp., this is probably the most important race on the November ballot as far as Antioch Twp. residents are concerned.

In the primary election on Tuesday, March 20, there are four Republicans and one Democrat on the ballot. The two highest vote-getters will face each other this fall.

The Republican column is headed by incumbent Charlotte Kiesgen, Fox Lake, who has already served on the county board for four years. As a full-time public servant, Kiesgen puts cooperation between the county and its municipalities as a number one priority. She also is a strong advocate for environmental preservation and hopes to see that the county board will hold department budgets to a 5 percent annual increase.

Robert Boness, a resident of Round Lake Beach for 17 years, is a family man who works as a building construction inspector. Boness has been active in the municipal affairs of the area he lives in, serving on the sanitary district, the planning/zoning and energy commissions and as one of the chief movers and shakers (Continued on Page 6)

2 precinct committee contests

Village of Antioch and Antioch Twp. voters will be able to cast ballots in the primary election on Tuesday, March 20, at the Antioch Upper Grade School, the Antioch Lower Grade School, Grass Lake School, Emmons School, Lotus School and Antioch High School. All have handicapped accessibility.

The polls are open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Voter turnout in Antioch should go along with Lake County Clerk Linda Hess' expectations for a low voter count. The only local people running in the primary are running for precinct and there are no Antioch referendums on the ballot.

On the ballot for committeeman for Antioch's 14 precincts, there are only two races on the GOP side and the seventh precinct is the only one that no one is running in.

In the eighth precinct, Raymond J. Schultz and Patrick Priller are running against each other.

In the ninth precinct, JoAnn D. Osmond and Paul Kitto are vying for the same post.

On the Republican ticket in the other precincts running unopposed are: Dorothy Furman in the first; Ralph E. Gussarson in the second; Michael J. Haley in the third; Joseph H. Veith in the fourth; Christine Exner in the fifth; Robert D. Furry in sixth; Frank Benes in the ninth; Lillian Golonka in the 11th; Jim Fields in the 12th; Norman D. Rockow in the 13th and Reed Ano in the 14th.

The only Democratic precinct posts that are being sought are in the 10th and the 13th precincts. Grant B. Farrell seeks the post in the 10th and Atty. Robert J. Long, former candidate for states attorney, is running in the 13th precinct.

Hunger Awareness Week March 17-24

Although many county residents have never experienced it, hunger is a big problem in Lake County. Results of an agency survey show that county food pantries helped 19,997 families in 1989 by supplying 401,710 meals to 26,083 adults and 24,452 children. In addition, the five county "soup kitchens" reported serving 24,452 meals to county residents. Agencies also reported serving a total of 36,912 meals through holiday basket distribution, bringing the total meals supplied to 438,622.

Agencies that have compared the 1989 figures with those from 1988 find there is a greater need for food now than ever before, in fact, there is an overall 13.2 percent increase in the number of families seeking help. Maija Heiti, director of C.O.O.L. Pantry, said, "The problem of hunger in Lake County is very real. In the past few months we have seen a steadily increasing number of families needing food. There has been a dramatic increase from December, 1988 to December, 1989 of people coming to our food pantry for help, and it looks like the trend is continuing."

To help county residents become aware of the hunger problem, Norm Geary, Lake County Board chairman, has declared March 17 to 24 "Lake County Hunger Awareness Week." Call (708)223-8627 for more information.

Consider bussing for Carmel

There are many families in Northwestern Lake County that send their children to Carmel High School in Mundelein for one reason or another. Providing daily transportation to and from Carmel High School is always a concern for parents. For many, the lack of daily transportation may be the deciding factor in registering their child in the school.

The number of students attending Carmel from the Lakeland appears to be increasing every year.

A survey is presently being conducted to see if there really is such a need for this daily bus service to and from Carmel High School in Mundelein beginning in the fall of 1990. The bus service will cover virtually all of northwestern Lake County.

If interested in this service contact Rob Bard, (708) 356-2086 (evenings) for more information.

Amusement ordinance upheld Board tosses racetrack curve

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

A very noisy crowd of over 500 people were at the Bristol Grade School to hear the Bristol Town Board unanimously turn down Brainerd International, Inc.'s request for the rescinding the town's amusement ordinance.

David Ames, president of the motor car raceway company that is proposing to bring an $8 million raceway into Bristol, said that he would take Bristol's answer back to the company's board of directors.

"We are a public company with seven people on the board of directors, they will decide what Brainerd will do now," said Ames, after the meeting.

Ames repeated a previous warning that Brainerd might decide to take Bristol Twp. to court concerning the constitutionality of the ordinance.

At an earlier meeting that was as crowded as the one on Monday, Ames said that Brainerd felt that the town should rescind the ordinance in lieu of the large amount of money that the raceway would be bringing into the area ranging in time up to $90 million per year.

Ames added that he thought that Brainerd's board would be meeting on the matter next week.

Loud verbal opposition was present at the meeting, as it has been at all previous ones concerning the racetrack.

The crowd roared when it was announced that during the part of the meeting usually reserved for citizens' remarks, only written questions would be allowed.

Another loud clamor came when board members decided against the reading aloud of three letters concerning the racetrack matter.

Petite Lake marina try in limbo

According to Suzi Schmidt, Lake County Board member, the Army Corps of Engineers has still not granted Spencer Askfeldt a permit to put in the boat ramps, already partially constructed, on lakefront property on Petite Lake.

The contention made by area residents that have instigated a lawsuit against Askfeldt and his try for a mini-marina, is that some of his buildings are in the floodplain and that a large pole barn has been partially built over the septic field extension.

Police Blotter

James M. Yates, 32, Antioch, was arrested for criminal trespassing at the Oakridge Ct. apartments on March 5.

Jeffrey Knoerzer, 19, Antioch, was arrested and charged with driving with a suspended driver's license twice last week.

John Mischon, 29, Antioch, was arrested and charged with battery to his girlfriend and criminal damage to property on March 10, at the Oakridge Ct. apartments.

John Matson, 20, Salem, Jeremy Kauth, 18, James Nottingham, 20, Antioch, were arrested and charged with criminal damage to property in connection with breaking windows in the Pine Hill Lakes area on March 10.

Dan Fredericks, 21, Antioch, was arrested and charged with driving with a suspended driver's license.

William Roberts, 44, Salem, was arrested and charged with DUI and obstructing justice on March 11.

Robert Mattson, 20 Antioch, was arrested and charged with attempted forgery on March 12.

William Mann, 20, McHenry, was arrested and charged with driving on a suspended driver's license on March 12.

Pile driving holds-up G. L. bridge

Many Antioch Twp. residents who drive down Grass Lake Rd. often are concerned that the construction taking place on the bridge, leaving one lane of traffic, seems to be at a standstill.

According to Martin Buehler, superintendent of the Lake County Hwy. Dept., "The next step on the project is driving concrete piles into the ground. The piles are driven through concrete caissons sunk in the water. Right now the water is too high, so the project is at a temporary standstill."

Internship

During the second semester of the 1989-90 school year, Donald Stinespring, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stinespring of Richmond, is participating in the Illinois Governmental Internship Program. He is an intern to Rep. James M. Kirkland

One of first

Retired member of Antioch Rescue Squad, Dan Dugenske, was one of Illinois' first 12 certified paramedics. He and wife Joanne fete squad's 50th anniversary.

Women begin squad's celebration

The Village of Antioch, its community service organizations and all the residents of both the village and Antioch Twp., will be honoring the members of the Antioch Rescue Squad throughout the year of 1990, celebrating the squad's 50th anniversary.

The celebration kick-off took place at a dinner/dance sponsored by the Antioch Junior Woman's Club, held at Marvelas in Fox Lake.

Other organizations will be doing their part in honoring the volunteer squad, that is on duty day and night, and has been serving the community by saving lives since its inception in 1939.

Over 400 people were at the dinner to see and hear the introduction of 41 past and present members of the squad. Each member was presented a commemorative pin by the woman's club.

One of the highlights of the evening came when State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-61st Dist.) read a proclamation from Gov. James Thompson proclaiming the day of the celebration, Antioch Rescue Squad Day in Illinois.

Squad members and their guests aware also read a congratulatory letter from President George Bush.

Special presentations were made to the squad by State Sen. Adeline Geokaris, representatives of Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, the Village of Antioch, the Antioch Lions Club, Antioch Twp., the Antioch Fire Dept., the State Bank of Antioch, the First National Bank of Antioch, the Antioch Woman's Club, the Lake County Board, the Antioch

Rotary Club, Pekin Insurance, the Lake Villa Rescue Squad, the Junior Woman's Club and Plasco Medical Devices International, Gurnee.

All proceeds from the dinner, amounting to approximately $12,000, were donated to the squad.

It is expected that the squad will continued to be specially honored at events during the remainder of the year.

There were four members when the squad was started 50 years ago, but that number soon grew to 25.

In 1971, the squad became Illinois' first paramedic mobile intensive care unit.

of the Round Lake Area Jaycees. He has also been a Republican committeeman. He is campaigning on bringing competent leadership to the county board.

Charlie Johnston is a graduate of Round Lake High School and attended Northwestern University. He has been in advertising, served as the managing editor of Lakeland Newspapers and done radio newscasting for WXLC Radio in Waukegan. He was news editor for the Antioch News-Reporter and while in that capacity was a member of the Antioch Rotary Club. He has served as a school board member and a member of the Round Lake Sanitary Dist. He has been campaigning against "indiscriminate and brutal use of land condemnation tactics by the majority of the Lake County Board.

Although he has been away from the area for the approximately two years, Larry Leafblad has a name, face and voice well-known to people in Lake County.

This is the second time around for Leafblad who ran for a county board Dist. 4 seat last election, losing to Kiesgen by a small margin.

While leading the popular local band, The Scotch Lads, Leafblad worked in advertising at WKRS and WXLC for 20 years until 1988. He is now president of a radio consulting firm, is married and has two children. For years he was one of the most popular emcees for community benefits in the county, especially in Antioch where the Scotch Lads had a big following. He promises hard work, action and no nonsense if elected.

On the Democratic side of the ballot, only one candidate's name appears, that of very low profile candidate Julia Edwards of Round Lake Heights.

The two winners in the Republican column on March 20 will face Edwards in November.

Lunch Money

No need to pull up that old easy chair this week, people. This column is so short that you can read it while standing. Now, far be it for me to make you feel guilty for not contacting me this week. By the way, did I ever mention that the proceeds I receive from writing this column help keep me in lunch money! To continue..

Yearbook Update

Well, Grass Lakers, the yearbook went to the printer. With any luck, all of the time and hard work the committee put into preparing this year's book will pay off with a finished 1989-90 yearbook that everyone will cherish and enjoy. The committee has one last patron to thank for their support. Antioch Pizza Shop is one of the 30 patrons who helped make the yearbook available at a reasonable price. Once again, the committee reminds everyone to please notice the patrons listed in the book and encourages everyone to thank them for their support when doing business with them. If you haven't ordered your yearbook and would still like to do so, a few extra copies are on order to accommodate any late comers. If you'd like a copy of the yearbook reserved for

Gee, that was short! Took me only a few minutes to type it. Were you all worried about overworking me or something? Don't feel you have to go easy on me. Keep me hopping with tidbits galore. I love having a lot to write about and it seems that most everyone, who reads my column, enjoys having a lot to read. Keeping this in mind, I'll look forward to a busy week of having my phone ring off the hook as you call me with your news. Remember if you don't call, I'll end up writing a filler "tale" of some of the strange happenings in the life of the Lizard, and you all know how crazy some of my involvements are. I'll close this "short" column with a lot of hellos fin the hope of sparking a story or two out of someone. # Tuesday choices

The Republican primary election Tuesday, March 20, unexpectedly has turned into a referendum on bossism and crass tampering with the elective process by big money interests vs. citizen participation. Make no bones about it. The outcome of campaigns for Republican County Board nominations in Dists. 4, 5, and 6 will tell whether special interests, in this case pro-development advocates in the real estate, development and building industry, can literally buy an election.

We find no fault with the legislative committee of the Lake County Board of Realtors, the Illinois Assn. of Realtors, and the Committee on Home Builder Issues spending large sums of money in political campaigns to support the candidates of their choice. But when groups like this act in consort with the Republican leadership of Lake County, namely County GOP Chairman Robert "Bob" Neal, they are wrong. Dead wrong. The playing field for independent candidates no longer is even. The entire process is twisted and turned for selfish interests. Voters are hoodwinked. Yes, even candidates are deceived and put in compromising positions. With the combination of money and power, the political process no longer can function as it is designed to function. One of the sad results of the alliance for unbridled power over open space is that some qualified candidates, candidates that this newspaper feels are well suited to serve, have been swept up in the mad dash for power to control the open space destiny of Lake County and what kind of place we will have to live in the coming years. Individual Republicans will have to search their conscience to determine if they want dominated and beholden candidates to represent them. Tuesday's results will tell the story.

Illinois Sec. of State James Edgar has been qualified to serve as governor for a long time and might be governor today had not Gov. Jim Thompson wanted to add to his reign as the longest sitting governor in Illinois history. Edgar's record proves that he has the breath of experience and knowledge to serve well as the chief executive. We heartily endorse his nomination over two opponents who basically espouse narrowly drawn platforms. Edgar far and away is the best choice to engage the Democratic challenger in November.

We have been in Sheriff Clinton Grinnell's corner ever since he took over the difficult task of serving as sheriff upon the death of the popular and powerful Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox. Grinnell won election in his own right to serve out an unexpired term and now is seeking to be his party's choice for the November election campaign for a full four-year term. We endorse his nomination without reservation. Grinnell's opponent has conducted a vicious attack on the sheriff's office and countywide law enforcement in general, flinging charges of corruption in all directions. If things are as bad as the challenger claims, it is surprising that the alleged wrong doings would not have surfaced before. If Grinnell's administration has not been free of problems, it has been free of scandal. That should speak for itself.

As a reminder, we would like to repeat our endorsements made earlier for Republican nominations for County Board seats: Dist. 4---Charlotte Kiesgen and Larry Leafblad; Dist. 5---Robert Depke and Carol Calabrese; Dist. 6---Robert Grever and John Reindl.

Be sure to vote Tuesday.

Productivity's role

In addressing employees of Abbott Laboratories upon being promoted recently to chairman and chief executive officer, Duane L. Burnham underscored what correctly could be termed the secret of Abbott's success in recent years and the reason why Abbott will maintain its place as a world-wide leader in the pharmaceutical industry in the 1990's.

At meetings in Lake County and Columbus, Ohio, Burnham told employees, "Your commitment to quality and productivity are the essential ingredients of our success."

In the past five years, Abbott has established remarkable records for sales per employee and net earnings per employee. A direct correlation has been maintained between the number of employees between 1985 and 1989, a period during which employment grew from 34,742 to 40,929 with sales and earning growing in roughly a direct proportion. It's no wonder that Abbott Laboratories is recognized as one of the great American business success stories.

Burnham said the 1990's will be a decade of continuing cost-containment. Management's job, he stressed, comes down to a delicate balancing act---funding research, development and marketing while achieving return on equity shareholders have come to expect.

Burnham's stress on individual productivity can well be taken as a bellwether for American business in the 90's, how well we maintain economic viability and how well we compete in a global market, particularly inroads being made by Asiatic nations. Whether it's a small plant here or a giant like Abbott, when increased productive efficiency paves the way for quality competitors are going to be hard-pressed to overtake you.

Letters To The Editor

Time for a change

Your viewpoint about the March 20 primary between the sheriff and Don Mason was very one-sided. Of course, that is your constitutional right. But what about that same right for Mr. Mason, myself or anyone else? We all maintain the same 1st amendment rights.

If the sheriff "can't be ruffled" then I feel as well as many other Lake County voters that a debate between the sheriff and Mason is a good idea.

As for the drug issue; as the sheriff said "If we're holding our own, we're doing well." The word here is "If." If this is the sheriff's attitude toward the No. 1 problem in this county than what other areas of law enforcement is he taking this mediocre attitude? I live in Lake County and I am also a member of a law enforcement agency outside of Lake County. I have concerns about drugs and other crime both at home and at work. If this is the sheriff's attitude, maybe it's time for a change in Lake County law enforcement.

Knock out Hansen

I'm writing to point out a few things which have lead me to my decision to encourage people to vote for Bob Grever and Colin McRae for Lake County Board. It is imperative that Bruce Hansen be defeated in his bid for re-election.

Fear replaces reason in GOP primary vote

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Fear is pervading the Republican primary election Tuesday, March 20, like a pre-dawn mist covering a patch of cattails.

If there is a common denominator involved in the GOP balloting to select nominees for the November general election, it is fear. Every time you turn around, someone is expressing the thought of being afraid. Injecting fear in a political campaign is a common political motivation, but this election there is something different. Chilling, bone jarring fear.

More and more Realtors, members of the Lake County Board of Realtors with 2,152 members representing 390 offices are expressing anger and dismay that their leadership has accepted donations from Oakbrook headquarters of state and regional real estate organizations along with local dues money to payroll endorsed candidates in the Republican primary. They speak only if their anonymity is protected. Fear of reprisal, of course. Only identified Realtor objecting openly to political campaign funding policies is Paul Plier of Waukegan, who is seeking County Board nomination as a Democrat from Dist. 2. Plier feels dues is being used "against him."

An undetermined number of Republican precinct committeepersons are holding their breath and dutifully following Central Committee dictates under the new strategy handed down by County Chairman Robert "Bob" Neal of early-on endorsements backed up by money and manpower. Whether they are in lock-step with party moguls or exercising independence won't be known until the votes are counted.

At a machinegun-like rate, Don Mason continues to fire a withering barrage of charges against his opponent, Sheriff Clinton Grinnell, and State's Atty. Fred Foreman, who isn't even on the ballot, which add up to the fear of massive political fraud in the county's law enforcement apparatus. It would take a courthouse full of Philadelphia lawyers to sort out the charges, even the ones that seem plausible. In the context of a political campaign, the endless list of charges are impossible to sort out. Voters are bewildered and turned off.

Pat Connors and Jack Martin, two pro-development Libertyville businessmen, are putting their money where their mouth is to back up the fear the Forest Preserve commissioners are out to create a lot of homeless citizens with land acquisition

As a former trustee of the Lake Zurich Rural Fire Protection Dist. for the past 13 years I have been very proud to be part of a board that provided outstanding protection, fiscal responsibility and responsive attention to the needs and wishes of the community we served. The first appointment Hansen made to our board was Dennis Abbott. Abbott has been in an adversarial position with the more experienced members of the board from the very first moment. His treatment of representatives of the Village of Lake Zurich, who provides our protection, is abominable.

A subsequent appointment by Hansen, that of Mr. Potter, to the board, was declared invalid because there already were tactics. Facts don't bear them out.

Larry Leafblad and Robert Boness, running for a GOP nomination from County Board Dist. 4 of northwest Lake County, might be expressing the only fear with credence---that Cook County-style politics is on the verge of replacing the traditional open primary in Lake County.

NEAL REPORT---Believe this if you will: Lake County Board Dist. 3 Rep. Robert "Bob" Neal, who wears horns to hear some people talk, disavowed interest in conversation with this columnist in becoming board chairman when the reorganization meeting is held the first Monday of December. "I don't think so," is the way Bob put it. As county GOP chairman, apparently one chairmanship is enough.

NEW DUTIES---The Rev. William Brunner, former pastor of Community Church of Round Lake, has accepted assignment as pastor at a new maximum security prison in Ohio. Part of his job will be coordinating religious activities for prisoners of Catholic, Jewish and Muslim faiths. During a vacation visit, Rev. Brunner allowed that his new job may be the most difficult of his career. There's no way to prepare for being a prison minister.

five members seated on the fire board! Then in April last year, Hansen appointed two of his unsuccessful running mates in the township election to the Fire Protection Dist. replacing me and another very experienced trustee without even asking whether or not either of us wanted to remain on the board. Oh, Hansen will look you right in the eye and say the County Board appointed these people and he's right. He nominates and as custom dictates, they appoint. It's the way things are done.

I've got no time for sleaze. Colin McRae and Robert Grever are my candidates for Lake County Board. They are men of honesty and integrity with proven records. Colin McRae as former mayor of Mundelein and Bob Grever as Elia Township's supervisor have demonstrated their integrity.

I don't see that integrity coming from the other ticket. I see gas station deals, train station deals, and the rape of the Lake Zurich Fire Protection Dist. by a Hansen nominated-county approved Fire Dist. Board.

One has only to read the local newspapers to know that good, hard working, honest, elected officials are a resource and a treasure. Let's not let the best (McRae and Grever) lose to either apathy or an uninformed electorate.

Libertyville Twp. seems to have a vocal minority with a lot of money. These people not only want to control the township and the quality of life, but without benefit of going through the elective process. These few people are self appointed gurus who want to control the wishes and quality of living for the majority! Unfortunately they have made an impact on our township!

The growth in Libertyville Twp. in the last 10 years has been tremendous, with all the attendant problems included - schools, water, sewers, traffic grid locks, increasing real estate taxes, etc.

Ask yourselves, has our quality of life improved at all? The only way the silent majority can voice their opinions is at the ballot box. Please do not be swayed by the high priced, high powered public relation firms that really don't have to live here and will do anything for a price!

No one ever spends big bucks on precinct committeeman races, that is until Bob Neal and Jack Martin with developers' money decided to go on a personal witch-hunt against any committeeman who did not agree with their decision to ram-rod candidates down the voters throats.

Heaven help the committeeman running without Neal's blessing-this poor candidate will likely give you a personal letter he actually wrote himself. It is doubtful whether Neal's hand-picked "Yes men" will have any individual note, this bunch will all have the same generic letter written for, and supplied to, them by professionals. These chosen candidates will likely be funded for postage to mail you their professionally printed literature.

This literature gives the false impression that they are endorsed by Republicans from a campaign headquarters that fraudulently implies it represents Lake County Republicans. Neal finally admitted to the press these people were really endorsed by no one but himself.

The Lake County Republican Party played a nasty trick on four of its candidates and all the Republican primary voters.

Four candidates didn't pay the "graymail" which the party requires candidates to pay if they want their name included on the so-called sample ballot.

The names omitted are "For Governor" No. 11, "For Judge of the Appellate Court" No. 101 and No. 106, and No. 128. They're probably as good or better than the endorsed candidates.

Please vote on March 20. Let the Lake County Republican Party know what you think of "graymail."

Obscene political spending

Editor:

As a resident of Lake County, as a member of the Lake County Board and as a Republican, I am appalled and dismayed by the display of "Machine Politics" currently being played by the so called leaders of the Lake County GOP.

The "Machine" happens to be a few so called "Good Republicans" who think they own a monopoly of GOP philosophy. Make no mistake, Bob Neal and Jack Martin are out to "buy" control of the Lake County Board. The amount of money they are receiving and spending is obscene.

Who is providing this money? The bulk of it comes from the homebuilders, the Illinois Assn. of Realtors and the local Board of Realtors, the State Central Committee and other monied "special interests" who seek financial gain in a county opened wide for unbridled development. Tens of thousands of dollars are being heaped on the campaigns of so called "endorsed" candidates who support these "special interests". These candidates include Char Kiesgan, Charlie Johnston, Bob Depke, Pam Newton, Bob Grever and Colin McCrae.

For the sake of reasonable growth, unclogged roads, a cleaner environment and a sensible open space program, give your support (including financial) to Robert Boness, Larry Leafblad, Carol Calabresa, Don Coulson, John Reindl and Bruce Hanson.

A vote for those candidates will keep control of the County Board in the hands of the people, not the special interests that want to devour Lake County and in the process raise our taxes, clog our schools and roads and pollute and destroy our environment with development that does not pay for itself.

Unimpeachable candidate

Editor:

Donald Mason does not deserve the Republican nomination for the office of Lake County Sheriff.

I represent an individual with whom Mr. Mason had a business deal with some years past. At the time of their association, Mr. Mason was running a tavern in Lake Villa. He apparently came up short and needed some cash to keep the tavern afloat. He approached my client and in November of 1984. The two of them entered into a partnership agreement for the continued operation of the bar. This was supposed to be a 50-50 partnership, with my client providing $5,000 in cash and Mr. Mason contributing his "good will," and existing equipment and inventory. Mr. Mason also signed a promissory note to personally secure the $5,000.

Mr. Mason continued the operation of the bar for some time thereafter, and then, without ever accounting for a penny of the income, let alone paying back any of my client's capital contribution, he sold the bar. In April of 1985, after my client made repeated demands for the return of his money, Mr. Mason filed for bankruptcy and attempted to stick my client with the loss of the $5,000. An objection to this was filed with the bankruptcy court, charging Mr. Mason with fraud. Shortly after this, he abandoned the bankruptcy. It is my opinion that he did so to avoid a trial on the issue of his fraud.

A year and a half later, after Mr. Mason still had paid nothing on his debt to my client, we filed suit, charging him with fraud and breach of contract. We obtained a judgment against him in September of 1987 for the full amount due, plus attorney's fees and costs. Since that time, despite our having cited him before the court to reveal his assets and pay up, he still has paid my client nothing.

I grew up thinking that the police and the sheriff, in particular, were supposed to be people of the highest honor. People to whom you could call on in any circumstance and obtain help and understanding. From what I know of Donald Mason, as I have outlined above, I wouldn't trust him as far as I could spit. I don't think the voters should either, and I certainly hope they don't.

I'm proud and disappointed both. I'm proud that I've helped a lot of folks my age help build our schools-schools that our children and grandchildren attend. I'm proud that we helped bring a library to the area and the we worked hard to attract a hospital and a YMCA. The whole community is better for our efforts.

Now that I am retired and a lot of my friends are too, I'm disappointed that the community has turned its back on us. You see, I live on a fixed income. Each year its buying power gets a little smaller. Many of my friends are in the same boat. We really cannot afford to keep living in our houses and the upkeep is getting to be too much. But what can we do? We want to live here with our friends and family. We want, and need, senior housing. We've always paid our own way and we want to continue to live with pride. But there is no place in Elia Twp. for us to go.

I know Mr. Hansen has worked successfully in Lake County to keep all landfills out and raise and raise our garbage bills. Now I guess he just wants old folks to go somewhere else, just like the garbage. Mr. Grever and Mr. McRae support us and our programs and it is time for us to support them. Now, and in the future, this area needs senior housing and the elected officials who will help make it come true.

Why Realtors are spending

Editor:

The Realtors Political Action Committee (RPAC) represents 850,000 Realtors nationwide, 33,000 Realtors in Illinois, and almost 2,000 members of the Lake County Board of Realtors. RPAC is supported by individual, small, voluntary contributions from many Realtors, not big contributions from a wealthy few. The average individual contribution to RPAC on an annual basis was than $25.

Contributions to RPAC are absolutely voluntary, contrary to some local reports. In fact, it is against the law to require an individual to contribute to a PAC as a condition of membership in an organization.

Decisions on how to spend RPAC funds likewise are not in the hands of the powerful few. Contributions are generated at the local level, where the request must be approved by the board's board of directors. The request is forwarded for action to the RPAC board of trustees, comprised of Realtors from throughout the state.

Some local reports have cited the fact that there are some Realtors unhappy with the candidates being supported. Of course there are! In any organization representing many individuals, it is impossible to make decisions that will please everyone.

However, RPAC's democratic structure allows for and even encourages such dissent. All Realtors are urged to provide input into the process. Reports that Realtors are afraid to speak out for fear of reprisals is ludicrous.

Finally, a few words about the reasons why Realtors are involved in the local primary. The major issues in the campaign go straight to the heart of our business. The issues of growth and development versus open space and the necessary increases of taxes to pay for open space is an issue with many, while it should be a proactive attempt by all governmental agencies and the property owners to find a sound balance of enhancement of a sound tax base so that we all can afford and enjoy "open space." Sound planning for Lake County and the careful protection of our natural resources is the concern of all Realtors in Lake County; how this is achieved is the question. It is by high handed condemnation proceedings by our Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. for our property, or is it by sincere, open negotiations between a willing seller and a willing buyer as we support! The heart of the matter is the protection of private property rights, that's what is all about.

Otto H. Sprenger, President
Lake County
Board of Realtors

Elitist view spending

Editor:

The split in the Republican Party is not pro-development or anti-development. That elitist group of mavericks is flying under false colors. The elitist group - Neal, Connors, Martin, Depke, Newton, etc. don't care a fig for average Lake Countians or God's beautiful gifts to us. Their sole aim is to serve a select group, the real estate industry, which delights in high land values (forget the taxes?), meaning higher profits; the mega-monied developers, dedicated to the most profitable use of every acre of land; the investment landowner, determined to squeeze every dollar he can out of God's own earth. These are the people investing their money to secure the election of their faithful pals, the elitist virus trying to take over the Republican party.

Voters trusted their spiel in the past. Result: Ralph Swank in the township office ingratiating himself to landowners by paying inflated prices for their land—well above market value—at the expense of taxpayers. Self-serving Mr. Neal, walking out of Lake County Board meetings, when he gets in a fuss. That paper hanger in Germany had nothing on Neal, with the mega-bucks feeding his ego, giving him his own personal storefront (itself a misrepresentation-it is not Republican, but elitist) talking only to those who goose-step with its own tune. And he pretends to represent the people?

We may have been trusting, but we are not fools. Enough of Jack the shopkeepers half-truths and specious claims in his desperate effort to hide the true issues. The true Republican Party is you and I, hard working and loving our home and our neighbors and this lovely Lake County, that is blest with woods and hills and lakes and open land. Our homes - not a refuge against a stinking noisy hateful environment on the other side of our doors; but a pleasant extension of man's best effort to balance population growth and demand with man's equal need for quality of life.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

An organization that has its own ideas about who should be the next governor isn't getting involved in the March primary.

It is Lake County Right to Life. No endorsements are being made. But if anyone should ask, the group's official position is that "people should vote their conscience and, if they like, support the pro-life candidates," said a spokesman.

That doesn't mean Jim Edgar, a pro-choice man.

Who's the man, then? None other than Hinsdale Republican James Baer. For those who want, information about his position on abortion is available from the Grayslake-based organization.

Lynn Martin, the Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, was in the area last month. The Rockford congressman and good friend of President George Bush was the guest speaker at a Republican dinner in Fox Lake.

Martin told about being raised in Chicago by an aunt.

"No matter who the candidate or what the issue, my aunt always voted Democratic," she said.

"To this day she still votes Democratic," Martin said, "and she's been gone for eight years."

Campaign literature mailed in County Board districts 4 and 5 prompted some detective work by the opposition.

It was a mailing for Robert Depke and Pam Newton in Dist. 5 and Charlotte Kiesgen and Charles Johnson in Dist. 4. It carried a non-profit postal indicia and the official-sounding name of the Illinois Republican State Committee. The return address was the Lake County Republican Party, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago 60601.

There is no such entity at that address, said the gum shoes sent downtown. Only offices of political importance at that address are on the 11th floor: State of Illinois Republican State Finance Committee, Illinois House Campaign Committee and Citizens for Edgar. They also found out the mailing was most likely done for 8 cents each instead of 14 cents without the non-profit status.

Those in the know say almost anyone can get the same break. All they have to do is ask, be Republican, and pay the mailing cost up front. But it's too late for this election.

But Stu Piper in the party's main Springfield office told one caller otherwise. He said the printing and mailing is only done for endorsed candidates. The man who gave the green light on the mailings was county party Chairman Robert Neal.

Jack Martin, the man considered to have as much political clout in Libertyville Twp. as money, says he sort of stumbled into politics.

Two years ago Libertyville Trustee John Schullien stopped by Martin's Libertyville Saddle Shop office. He wanted some help in recruiting a candidate for Republican precinct committeeman for Libertyville 153. The two were thumbing through a list of residents and, turning a page, found Martin's was at the top.

Martin put his name on the ballot, but didn't win. He's not running this year, either.

He's too busy with his business and helping others get elected through the Taxpayers for Good Government. "We're out to prove we're really the good guys," he said of himself and others in the group. That claim is also made by those who still support Dist. 5 County Board member F.T. "Mike" Graham of Libertyville.

So, will the people in the white hats please stand up?

Faith and begorra. The luck of Henry "Lucky" Gillman of Round Lake Beach seems to be holding. The Round Lake man, who says he is a World War II prisoner of war and mayor for one day of Sunnyside, wants to be the next Republican lieutenant governor. But it's a long shot.

But he and his running mate for governor, Robert Marshall of Berwyn, have parted ways.

The split came because Marshall started saying things about the would-be lieutenant governor that Gillman says are untrue. First, the state took away his POW license plate. Gillman said this came about because records regarding his World War II status have been lost. But he says people at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in North Chicago believe him.

Gillman claims some past political glory. He ran for mayor of Antioch nine years ago and served one day as acting mayor of Sunnyside in McHenry County.

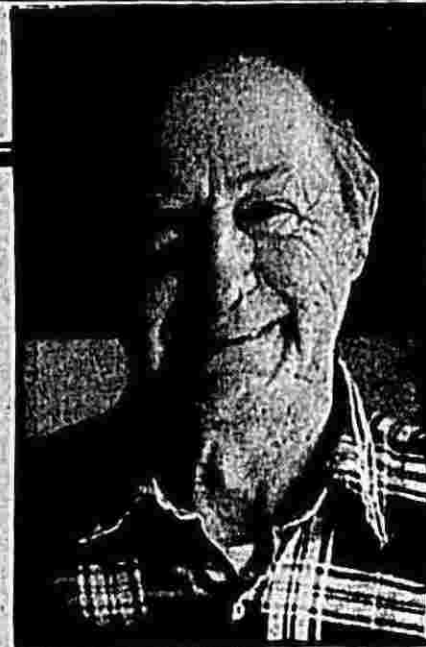

The kicker is Gillman's conviction (later overturned) 10 years ago for contributing to the sexual delinquency of a nine-year-old girl and, in 1988, sexually abusing a three-year old (dropped).

If Gillman is going to be elected he can't spend much time explaining his past. Since he didn't file petitions for the March 20 primary, he had to submit notarized papers of candidacy in 102 counties to run as a write-in. That's been done.

Gillman wants everyone to vote for him, "not that ding-a-ling Bob

Terrance Link

Henry Gillman

Jack Martin

Marshall running for governor."

One of the quietest races on the March 20 ballot is for Democratic Central Committeemen in the 10th (Rep. John Porter) and 12th (Rep. Phillip Crane) congressional districts.

In the 10th District incumbent Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights is unopposed for the one female opening. Three candidates for the one male post are former state representative Mayor Daniel M. Pierce of Highland Park, state treasurer employee Terrance "Terry" Link of Lake Bluff and Alderman John J. Gearica of Waukegan.

Over in the 12th District, the female hopefuls are Nancy Scottillo and Adel Arliu. Little is known about either one.

A four-way race on the male half of the ballot are incumbent James P. Sheehan, a self-employed building contractor in Cook County; Kenneth Sjorslev of Wauconda Twp., an administrative assistant in the Illinois Atty. General's office; William Schroeder of McHenry County, vice president of the Alliance of American Insurers in Schaumburg; and James Engle, a practicing attorney in Hanover Park.

OVERHEARD: Telephones at the Lake County Board of Realtors office in Lake Villa went unanswered last week. Callers wanted to know about the $2,500 per person being poured into the campaigns of six endorsed, pro-development candidates for the County Board in the March primary. Director Peggy Kaiser was "in a meeting" much of the week. Then, she "went out of town," callers were told. Wasn't it Harry Truman who said something about "the heat in the kitchen." It seems Democratic Sheriff candidate Donald Mason calls a press conference every other day or so to lob another missive at his Republican opponent. Don't be surprised if next week he charges sheriff's department is really being run by Clint Grinnell's secretary, Pat Mehlhorn, or his wife, Marion. Cable television viewers can't help but see the ads for County Board candidates Robert Depke and Pam Newton in Dist. 5. They bought 24-hour saturation coverage on Jones Intercable and U.S. Cable starting last week and continuing to primary election day on March 20. Republican Party Chairman Bob Neal says he learned a valuable election lesson last spring. He lost his job as Newport Twp. supervisor. "That's because I was taking care of party business county wide and not my own back yard," he said. He says it won't happen in his heated race for precinct committeeman where Charles Nordigan is the opponent. Neal is running scared with signs, lots of them, and more to come. Of the races for Republican committeeman in Wauconda Twp., the biggest is in Island Lake Precinct 264. Incumbent Fred Bigham is being challenged by attractive and knowledgeable Sandra J. Cermak and someone named Gary Jannusch. Bigham is involved in countywide politics up to his eyebrows. He is field coordinator for the endorsed County Board candidates in the March primary. He doesn't want to be another Bob Neal, so he is saving some election time and talent for his backyard.

Two members of the Lake County Board of Realtors in the March primary are mad because part of their monthly dues are being used to support opposing candidates in the election. They are County Board candidates Paul Plier of Waukegan in Dist. 2 and Donald Coulson of Libertyville in Dist. 5. The Board of Realtors is contributing $2,500 each to the endorsed Republican candidates. They are sending a letter to fellow realtors questioning the payment. Sheriff candidate Donald Mason and his partner stopped by this week. They wanted to say 75 percent of the sheriff's deputies support their candidacy. They also wanted a correction. Mason said he was exonerated of having sex in a squad car while a deputy and retired from the department of his own accord. Mason also said he received promotions as a deputy. William Harder, running as chief deputy, said his $71,000 loan default was not for a Wisconsin business, but a home.

Lake County At A Glance

Flood watch

FOX LAKE—Officials are keeping a wary eye on lake levels as unseasonably high temperatures and rains contribute to an early snow melt. At midweek, an excess of 1,200 cubic feet per second was discharged at the McHenry Dam. "The ground still is frozen. Everything is going into the lake. We could have trouble," warned Peter Jakstas, civil defense head. The Fox River at the Wilmot dam had risen above the spillway. Shifting ice flows could cause serious damage, Jakstas declared.

Reject substation

LINCOLNSHIRE—Village trustees rejected Vernon Fire Protection Dist. plans to construct a 5,400-square-foot fire substation at the southeast corner of Rtes. 22 and Riverwoods Rd. Trustees Joy Ann Serauskas and David Saltiel voted against the plans, saying the fire district failed to produce revised building designs which would make the building blend better into the residential area. Fire Dist. President Forrest Dines said the changes would have cost the taxpayers up to $300,000.

Ballock resigns

ANTIOCH—At the March school board meeting held earlier this week, Jill Ballock resigned as superintendent of the Emmons Grade School Dist., effective June 30. Ballock cited personal and family concerns as the reasons for her resignation. The Emmons Board accepted Ballock's resignation with regret.

Backing tax hike

GURNEE—An army of 200 volunteers is spending the final week before the March 20 primary election ringing doorbells, trying to get the word out about the Gurnee Dist. 56 referendum. The district is seeking a 75 cents per $100 increase in the education fund and 20 cents per $100 increase in assessed valuation in the building fund.

Big-name races

LIBERTYVILLE—Some well-known persons are running for precinct committeemen in Libertyville and adjoining Fremont townships on March 20. Republican candidates for re-election in Fremont Twp. are Mayor Marilyn Sindles of Mundelein, former Mundelein Mayor Colin McRae and Mundelein Trustee Ralph Rohling. In Libertyville, Trustee John Schullien is running for re-election while Trustee Robert Ostroga is making a first-time bid, both as Republicans. County Board member Carol Calebresa is being challenged by two other candidates for F.T. "Mike" Graham's former GOP percent post. Running unopposed in Libertyville on the Democratic ticket is Betty Ann Moore, chairman of the county Democratic party.

Members of the First Church of Christ Science in Barrington were hesitant about letting Wauconda contractor Klaus Neukirch cover the church's cupola in aluminum siding. ## Contractor puts quality ahead of profit

by VINCE VITTORE
Lakeland Newspapers

In today's cutthroat competition between independent contractors it is rare to find one who puts the quality of the work ahead of the profit. Even rarer is the contractor who views his work as art.

But Klaus Neukirch of Knight's Armour in Wauconda is one of those rare people.

Neukirch is the owner, operator, salesman, laborer and accountant of Knight's Armour. It is truly a one-man operation.

Neukirch recently hit what he calls the pinnacle of his career when the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) awarded him the Contractor of the Year Award (CoTY) for his work on the First Church of Christ Science in Barrington. His aluminum siding work on the cupola and trim of the church took him four months to complete and could be considered his crowing achievement.

Church members had been hesitant to put aluminum siding over the wood, fearing that they would lose all the architectural detail. What they got, was a replica of the wood, that would last far longer.

"They were really pleased when it was done," Neukirch said in an understatement.

In fact, the church members were so pleased with his work, they sent him a letter of congratulations, calling him a "true craftsman."

During the four months that it took to complete the project, Neukirch took pictures of the progress, knowing that the detail he was able to preserve would be worthy of CoTY nomination. After completing the church, he sent in 36 photos and a report detailing the amount of work and difficulties, which were numerous, that he faced during the project.

Neukirch was then awarded the Midwest contractor of the year award in the commercial specialty remodeling category for the cupola and trim work, an honor in itself. But with the Midwest award was an invitation to the NARI presidential dinner in Atlantic City, N.J.

What Neukirch didn't know at that point was that his Midwest award also automatically nominated him for the national award.

"I didn't even think I could get it," he said of the award. "I thought that this was as far as I could go. Then, all of a sudden at the dinner I realized that I had a shot at getting it."

What makes the award special to Neukirch is that he beat out huge firms that employ several work crews.

"It was a humbling experience to be in that company," he said. "Little by little it's starting to sink in."

In addition, Neukirch also beat out a two-time winner from New York. Later in the evening, the former winner gave him a lapel pin that was hand-made by his wife in honor of his first two awards.

"I was really touched by that," Neukirch said.

Craft over profit

While the CoTY award is something that will give him special recognition for one year, the craftsmanship that won him the award has been a part of his work every one of the 31 years he has been running Knight's Armour.

"I got a niche and that niche got me this award," he said.

That niche is approaching his work as a sculptor. And that niche is also taking the time to do the job right.

Neukirch takes as long as four times as long as most contractors. He also takes on harder jobs, like the cupola, that most contractors wouldn't touch.

"A lot of the people I met said they wouldn't even quote a job like this," he said.

Approaching aluminum siding work as an artist requires a lot of patience. It also means not cutting corners.

"My conscience won't allow me to do that," he said. "If it takes me three times as long that's fine. I've got to get the job done right."

But getting the job done right also has its price, less work. Because he takes three to four times as long as most, he charges more than most, making it harder to find the volume of work he needs to make business profitable.

"It's hard to find people who can appreciate that quality," he said. "If I would have been business-wise, I could have retired by now."

Instead, the 63-year-old Neukirch continues to pick up jobs, mostly on referrals, and approaches every job as an artist.

Congress chips away from retirement benefits

by ALAN NADOLNA

For more than a decade Congress has chipped away at retirement benefits for highly paid employees. This is a real problem.

The highest pension a company can fund for today is $94,000 a year at age 65. This and other pension-law changes have severely limited the company's ability to reward high earners.

As a result, many small corporations have had to stop making payments to their plans. Some have "topped out" which means they already have set aside the maximum pension amount. Others have given up the plans.

A solution is the severance benefit plan authorized by Section 419A of the tax code. A company can put into such a plan an amount sufficient to pay a benefit of up to two times the employee's annual compensation is fully tax-deductible although termination must be at least three years before normal retirement age.

It works this way. A 46-year-old self-incorporated doctor earning $125,000 a year at the present time could put aside money to pay a benefit of almost $1 million at termination.

The benefit is based on the doctor's projected earnings at the time of his termination from the company, say at age 62. If his salary is projected to grow to roughly $490,000 when he is 62, the maximum severance pay benefit is two times salary at termination. Two times $490,000 equals $980,000.

To pay that benefit 16 years from now, the doctor would need to put only about $360,000 into the plan. He could do this by making two $100,000 deposits followed by 14 payments of $12,000 each. Everything he puts into the plan is tax deductible by the company. Payments can be spread out over time or "front-loaded" to get bigger immediate deductions.

When the employee is "terminated," he can take his benefits from the plan either in a lump sum or over 24 months. The fine points of the plan are:

The company becomes a member of an association of employers. As a member of the association, it gets access to a multi-employer trust. This is a master benefit trust that provides death and severance benefits to members. The company contributes the money for its severance pay plan to the trust and deducts the payments.

The plans work just like defined benefit pension plans. You put in enough money to pay a defined benefit at retirement which in this case is the termination of employment.

If you have employees, they must be covered by the plan.

You must keep separate accounts for each member of the plan and the plan must be certified by an actuary.

This kind of plan is cheaper than having your own defined benefits plan because you're joining other employers in a master trust. The costs are shared by the members.

There are additional benefits which are:

Creditors can't get at the money you put into the trust.

Insurance benefits can be included in the coverage.

Distributions before age 59 1/2 are not subject to the 10 percent early withdrawal penalty.

Caution: Because these plans seem too good to be true, you have to assume IRS audits will occur. And this is a tax loophole that Congress will probably close some day. It's only a matter of time. My guess is that there's a two-year window of opportunity here to take advantage of benefits of severance pay plans.

Cherry gets award from Ford Motors

Cherry Electrical Products, a unit of The Cherry Corporation, Waukegan, IL, announced today that it has earned the coveted "Q1 Preferred Quality Award" from Ford Motor Company's Diversified Operations for its work for the Ford Automotive Components Group.

The award is presented by Ford to suppliers who achieve and maintain consistently high quality in the products used by Ford. Ford has about 3,500 suppliers worldwide and less than three percent earn the award.

The Automotive Division of Cherry Electrical Products is a supplier to Ford for electronic modules and electrical switches for various control functions. This marks the second time

Cherry has earned this prestigious award.

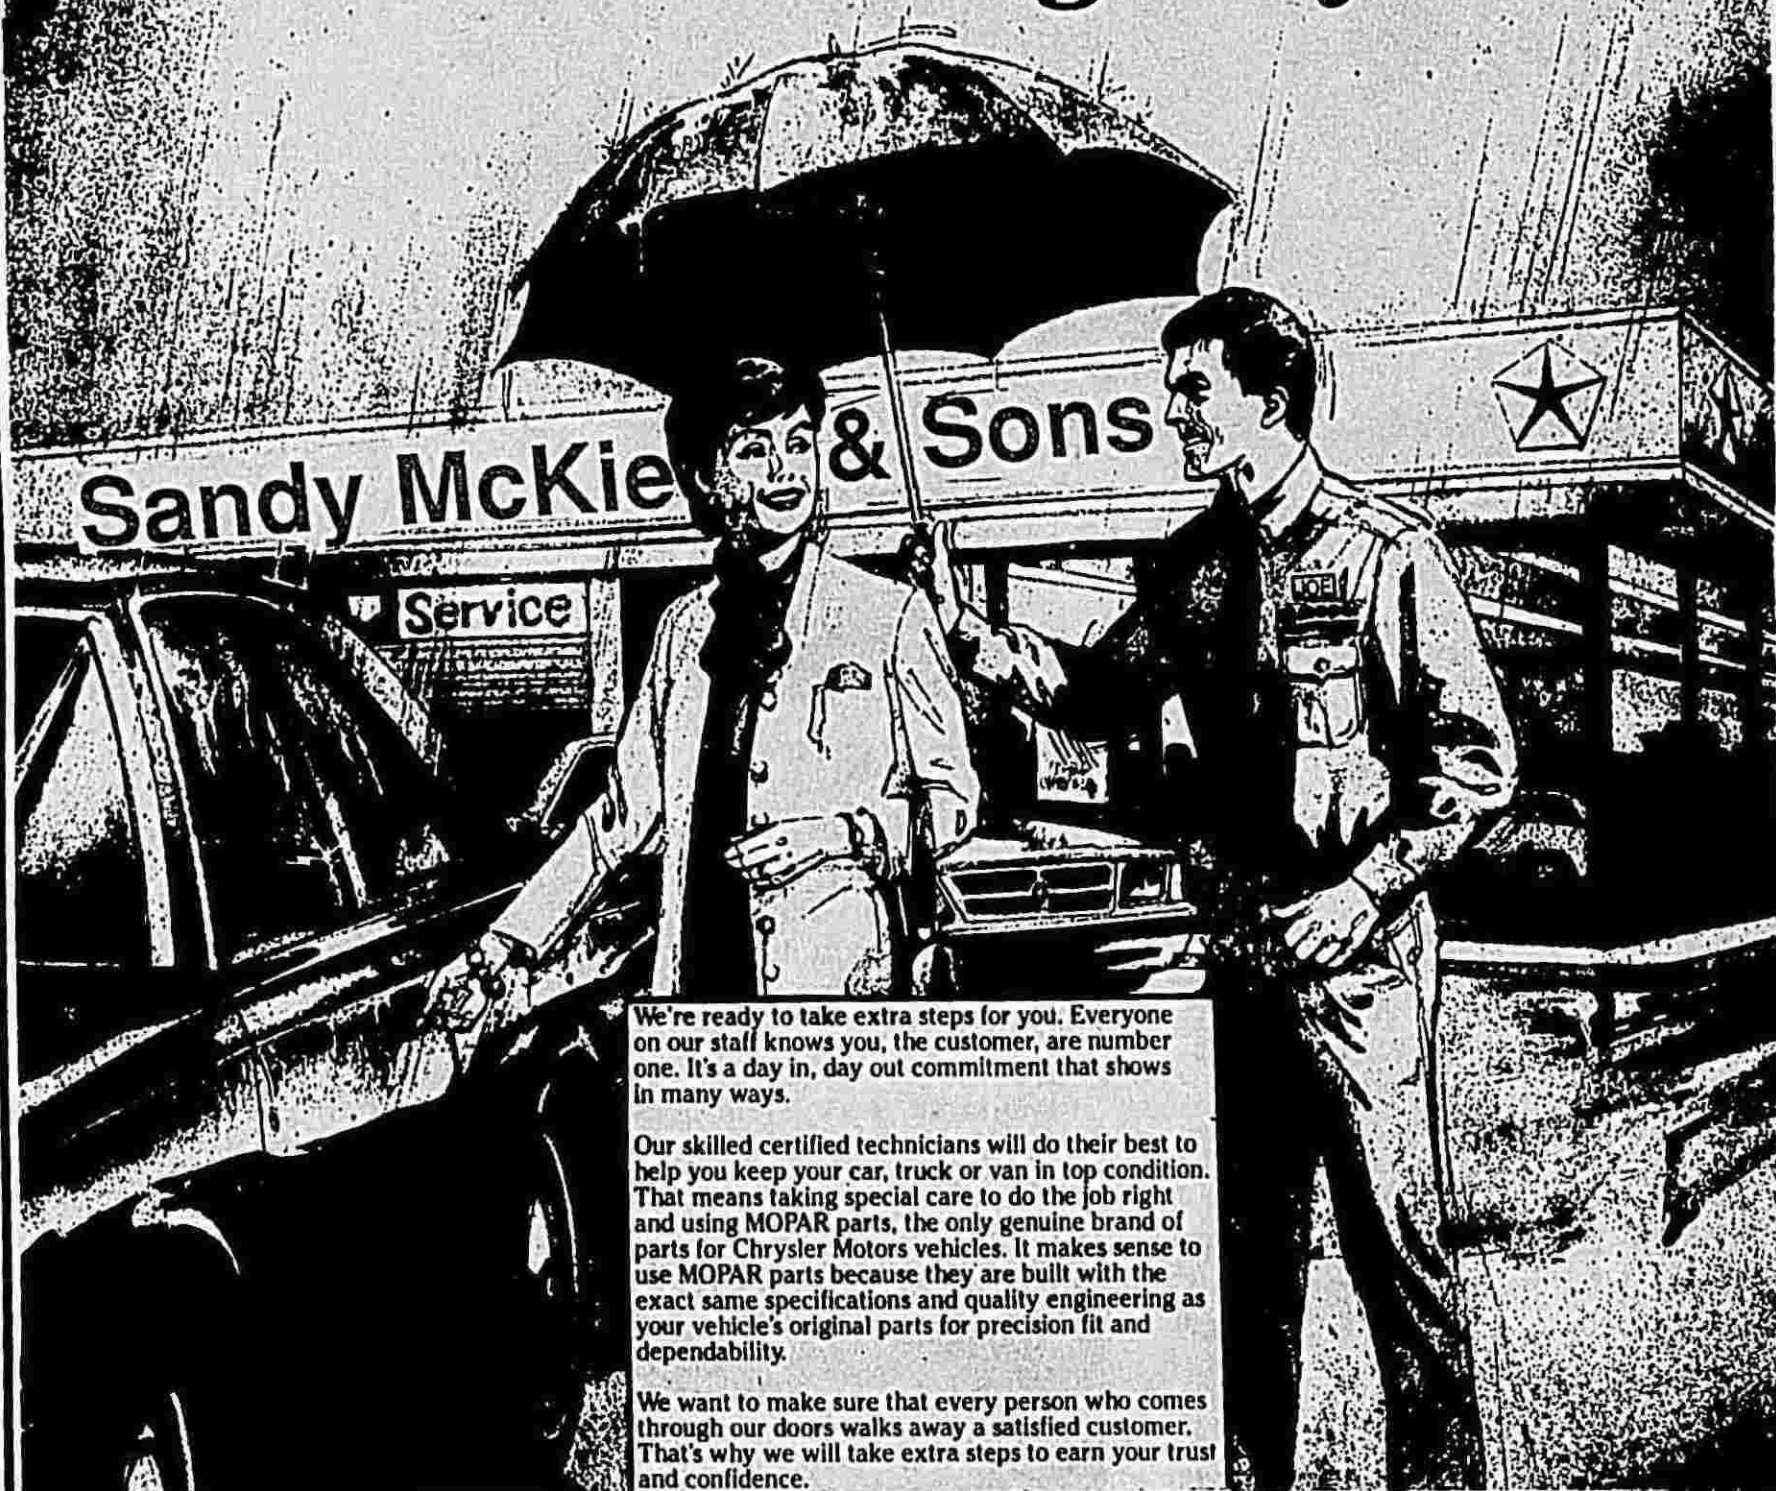

"To qualify for the award," said Mr. Marx, "a supplier must have an excellent Ford quality rating and an effective quality assurance system that includes the use of statistical techniques."

"In return, Ford gives the supplier preferred sourcing recognition. The supplier is trusted with responsibility for quality, rather than having Ford check on it."

The Cherry Corporation is a multi-national, multi-product developer, manufacturer and marketer of proprietary and custom precision switches, electronic keyboards, displays, semiconductors and printed circuit boards serving the original equipment market.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Investing in mutual funds is an excellent way to build a nest egg. They enable you to invest when you have money available and allow you to reinvest gains and dividends so your money compounds. All this occurs at different times, and your shares are bought at different prices. When you need money, the fund sells enough shares at the current net asset value and mails you a check.

But which shares you sell could make a big difference in the taxes you pay. If you do not specify which shares to sell, the IRS's first in, first out rule applies. Shares you may have bought at a lower cost basis when you started investing will be sold for a large gain—and a large tax liability.

However, had you specified that the fund sell shares purchased at a higher cost basis, you would instead show a smaller gain or a loss, which could save you taxes.

Will the IRS accept this? No one will say for sure, but all agree this method should work. Remember, once you begin identifying shares you must keep accurate records so that the shares are not specified again for future sale.

Accurately determining the cost basis of your mutual fund shares requires some detail, but it may save you some money in taxes.

'Cocaine Babies': A growing problem

According to the National Association For Perinatal Addiction, Research and Education (NAPARE), 11 percent of infants born in the U.S. are affected by mothers who use drugs during pregnancy. Although overall drug use has decreased, drug use among women of childbearing age has not lessened.

Cocaine Babies are born on the cutting edge

Editor's Note: The following article is the second of a three-part series entitled, "Is 'Just Say No' Working in 1990." This particular segment focuses on the growing number of babies born with drugs in their systems and the demand these children place on the health and education fields.

by DONNA DUNCAN
Lakeland Newspapers

When a Chicago area upper middle class couple expected their first baby, Ann (not her real name) stopped using cocaine. But, her husband Jack, (not his real name), gave her five grams of cocaine on her birthday. She took it over a three-day period. When she went into labor, the fetal monitor registered 200 beats per minute. The baby lived, but suffered a stroke and brain damage.

Despite a nationwide program to "Just Say No" to drugs, educators and doctors face a big challenge in the 1990s — to educate or treat children born addicted to drugs.

The number of infants born with any type of drugs in their system is growing, according to statistics from the Illinois Dept. of Children and Family Services. In fiscal year 1989, the number of cases reported were 2,173, compared to 181 in 1985. This is a twelve-fold increase. In 1990, experts predict more than 2,000 babies will be born in Illinois with cocaine in their system.

Although many of the women are young, uneducated, and from poor neighborhoods, others are educated, healthy and from affluent families.

"One of the surprising things is over half of the mothers who deliver babies with drugs in their system are over 25 years old," said John Hamm, public information officer, DCFS. He said these are chronic drug users with several children at home.

While 87 percent of the cases come from Chicago area, Lake County hospitals reported a low amount.

In Lake County, the number of reported cases of babies born with drugs in fiscal year 1989 was six. Out of those, one was founded. This is a slight decrease from the eight reported and one founded in fiscal year 1988.

Hamm attributes the numbers to increased awareness among doctors.

"There's more reporting going on," he said.

Currently, when a doctor suspects drug use with a pregnant woman, he runs a toxicology screen. Cocaine use by the mother either before or during pregnancy may still show up in the baby's system. An infant born with cocaine in its system lasts five to seven days.

The baby is born with an increased heart rate, increased blood pressure, causing spontaneous abortion.

In fact, many women take cocaine to induce labor or ease pain.

"On the streets, one way to have an abortion is to use cocaine. On the other hand, the fetus may survive and is born with a mental or physical defect."

Cocaine may stay in the system for several days or months, depending on the severity, according to Tom Green, chief of communications of the Dept. of Alcohol and Substance Abuse.

The state will spend $140 million on drug abuse programs in fiscal year 1991, which is a 15 percent increase over the $122 million spent this fiscal year, according to Mike Shepard, of DASA. He added the programs will be aimed mostly at women.

With all the prevention campaigns his office promotes, part of the problem is outreach, he said.

Do you think It's time for serious 'baby talk'?

"Many women giving birth to babies with drug addiction are in such despair themselves — they look at drugs as an escape," Green said.

What are the long-term effects? Depending on the severity of drug addiction, babies may suffer withdrawal or no notable symptoms until later. Long-term effects have yet to be reported.

However, research on preschoolers born with drugs in their systems indicate some special programming to help them succeed in school.

A law passed last year by the General Assembly, empowers DCFS to take custody of a child born with drug addiction. However, only 12 percent are taken into protective custody. The majority stay with the parents, and DCFS works to rehabilitate the parent.

"We rush services into the home, instead of rushing kids out. A counselor sees the developmental deficits, according to Pat O'Keefe, of the National Association of Perinatal Addiction, Research and Education (NAPARE).

Babies born with a drug addiction have certain disabilities that require more special education or medication.

"Many of these children have a low frustration level and short attention span. They need a lot of structure and one on one direction," O'Keefe said.

For the babies born with some type of disability, it puts more demand on educators and health specialists because they're more expensive to take care of.

Lake County School Supt. Sybil Yastrow said educators need to be aware of these children and may have to offer needs of the family, such as transportation day care, family counseling."

"Our department has a policy — to keep families together whenever possible. If we do take protective custody, we make efforts to return the child," Hamm said.

Many women don't seek social services for their drug problem because they fear being jailed or losing their children, Hamm said. He said this is the tug of war his office faces daily. However, DCFS said his agency's main priority is to protect the child and help the family. DCFS does not seek criminal penalties for women who bear children with drug abuse.

Not only can a child be affected by drugs during pregnancy, but also can ingest cocaine through mother's milk or what she has smoked, Hamm said.

"(Cocaine babies) is not an unusual problem for society, but putting a hard burden on society involving the most innocent and vulnerable members of society," Hamm said. What is DCFS doing to reduce the problem?

One thing DCFS is doing to reduce the number of affected babies is by working directly in the homes of families with drug use. With the Family First program, case workers go into the home to handle family problems. Another project was to fund NAPARE, which is headed by Dr. Ira Chasnoff, of Northwestern University Hospital, Chicago.

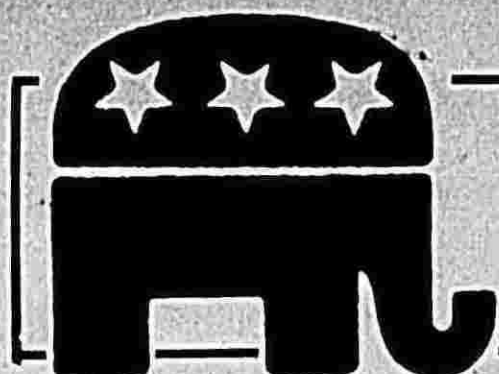

The NAPARE also sponsored two national conventions to train 2,000 counselors, social workers, medical staff to recognize drug abuse.

"We're working with other agencies so pregnant mothers and new mothers can receive treatment," Hamm said. One agency DCFS works with is the Dept. of Alcohol and Substance Abuse.

Pamela Newton ☐

Address: 122 Midway, Vernon Hills, Vernon
Age: 34
Occupation: Pre-school instructor.
Other Family Members: husband, Chip; children, Chris, Matt, and Greg.
Party Affiliation: Republican
Office You're Running For: Lake County Board Member Dist. 5.
Do you hold any political office at the present time: Yes, Village Trustee Vernon Hills

Past election campaigns (include terms): 1985-Trustee; 1989 re-election Trustee
What is your reason for running? We need to improve county management of our forest preserves, county budget, and improve relationships with township and municipal agencies.
Major issues in the campaign (where do you stand): Growth vs Open Space. We must preserve our natural resources as our county continues to grow.
Why are you more qualified than opponent (if any): I have more municipal experience than any of my opponents. Since much of Dist. 5 lies within incorporated municipalities, it is essential we have a representative with land zoning experience, an open space purchase record, and financial budget expertise.

Although the race for Lake County Board Dist. 3 is fairly quiet, Warren and Newport Twp. residents have some precinct committeemen races to choose from March 20.
The most notable could be newcomer Charles Nordigan's challenge to Robert Neal in precinct 186 in Wadsworth.

"If the people who say they will vote for me come out and vote for me, I should win," Nordigan said.
Nordigan, a Wadsworth resident for four years, predicted a big turnout for the primary election. Both candidates have signs in yards of Wadsworth residents.
"I put the signs up to let people know there is an election and I need their help," Neal said.

Neal is chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee. At a fundraiser for Lake County Dist. 5 candidate Robert Depke and Pamela Newton, Neal said as county chairman he can "help the people in many different ways".
Neal was opposed in 1984 but received no opposition in 1986 and 1988.
Nordigan, president of Norstran, Inc., an international firm which makes electrical contact points, said he will be "closer to the people and more effective."
Nordigan, who has four children, includes Tae Kwon

Do as his interests. A 14-year member of the Waukegan police department and product of Waukegan schools, he teaches Tae Kwon Do for Master Kim in Waukegan.
Meanwhile in Dist. 1, Samuel Payne, incumbent and Bertha Ogrin are assured of a spot in the general election as are Bonnie Murphy and incumbent James LaBelle of Zion on the Republican side.
In Warren Twp., contested races include Carolyn Ryan against Robert Soudier in precinct 242, Kenneth E. Hallstern against Jerry Meagher in precinct 248, Suzanne Simpson against Edward May in precinct 254.
Simpson is active in Arbor Vista concerns while May is a board member at Warren Twp. High School and has been a delegate to the Republican National convention.

Precinct committeemen not facing opposition include:
-243, Shawn B. Depke.

Address: 225 Edgemont St., Mundelein, Fremont Twp.

Occupation: Consultant; real estate, management, analysis
Other Family Members: wife, Mary; daughter, Lynne
Party Affiliation: Republican
Office You're Running For: Lake County Board-Dist. 6
Do you hold any political office at the present time: Republican Precinct Committeeman Past election campaigns (Include terms): Mayor of Mundelein 1977-89; Village Trustee, 1975-77; Republican Precinct Committeeman 1985-present.

Major issues in the campaign (where do you stand):

The Environment: which includes considerations of land protection and preservation, stormwater control, air pollution, and solid waste disposal. As a past charter member (representing Dis. 6) of the Stormwater Management Agency and the original co-chairman of the Solid Waste Advisory Committee, I am committed to protecting our environment through diplomacy and negotiation rather than by confrontation and litigation!

Drugs: The national limelight is upon elimination of drug suppliers. I believe the answer lies at the local level. I support the concept of an intergovernmental educational effort wherein the County Health Dept., school districts, and perhaps part district would join forces to find innovative ways to reach the youth of the county about the horrendous end results of drug use.

Taxation: The level of real estate taxation in Lake County is increasingly burdensome to the senior citizens and the young adults just embarking on their lives. Often, the young can receive help from parents as those young start their independent lives. The seniors, however, are often not disposed to take help and frankly, they shouldn't have to!

County government should carefully assess the existing programs and expenditure levels, reconsider priorities, and perhaps efficiencies will be found. The mentality that is often used on tax increases, "Oh, it is only a three cent increase," is ignorant and insensitive. It ignores the possibility, may-the likelihood that several other taxing bodies are saying the same thing.

Fiscal prudence must be an every day concern. The seniors and young people must not continue to be victims of a wealthy county's increased expectations!

My record as Mayor of Mundelein show property tax relief can be done without reducing services.

Intergovernmental Cooperation:

Today, with some exceptions, county-municipal cooperation exists mechanically, but not in spirit. During the past 15 years I have seen the county-municipal relations in Lake County go from bad to good and back to bad.

Lately, these relationships arise when the county attempts to get some form of legislation passed in Springfield. Frequently, that proposed legislation diminishes municipal prerogative. The municipalities fight back. Our legislators are caught in the middle and encourage the county and municipalities to "try to work something out."

In this example I believe the county should approach the municipal leadership with the concepts and reasons behind the proposed legislation. Difference should be discussed and compromises sought. Sometimes this process will fail but I am confident that more often it will succeed thereby eliminating the cost, in time, money, and energy, of county-municipal confrontation!

The Solid Waste Agency is a good example of how these relationships should and can succeed.

What is your reason for running?

Having lived in Lake County (Dist. 6) since the age of four, I will understand the changes, good and bad, which have occurred. There are several tremendously significant issues which must be addressed in just the next few years, solid waste disposal, redistricting, stormwater control to name a few. Decisions made on these issues will have significant financial and environmental consequences for many years to come.

I believe my private business experience which includes hearing involvement in cost control, operations analysis, and management, coupled with 14 years of elected experiences (with a record of tax control and county wide leadership), provides me with more and better insights into how to efficiently manage a county budget exceeding $160 million. The variety of my governmental and private enterprise experience has, I believe, made me a proved, common-sense person who gets the job done. Why are you more qualified than opponent (if any): Same as above.

Do you hold any political office at the present time: Ela Twp. Supervisor Past election campaigns (Include terms): Ela Twp. Supervisor 1981-85-89

Major issues in the campaign (where do you stand):

Solid Waste Disposal: The Most critical issue: Must establish a very vigorous Recycling Program-County wide in conjunction with Municipalities. Also to accommodate the balance of the generated solid waste an effective, clean system of incineration must be implemented.

Transportation: Major upgrading of existing roads consisting of traffic signals, left hand turn lanes, improved intersections and highway widening wherever necessary in the Top priority. This could be accomplished for a fraction of the cost of extending Rte. 53 north into Lake County.

Drug Prevention Problem: An effective, Tough Program of Drug abuse problem must be implemented through the Health Dept. in conjunction with the Sheriff's office and the County.

What is your reason for running? To bring my experience and background from my 29 years as a businessman of Lake County and the nine years of local government leadership experience as Ela Twp. Supervisor to the county level, and give the taxpayers of Dist. 6 the representation they deserve.

Why are you more qualified than opponent (if any): Same as above.

Past election campaigns (Include terms): Elected precinct committeeman 1974 to present, Fremont Twp. Trustee 1974-86, Lake County Board 1986 to present.

Major issues in the campaign (where do you stand): Better protection of our natural resources, wetlands, flood plains, and woodlands. Strict monitoring of solid waste and storm water management.

What is your reason for running? As an incumbent, a great deal of work has begun that will require my experience and supervision for completion.

Why are you more qualified than opponent (if any): Currently I sit on eight committees, four of which I chair. This gives me a well rounded understanding of county business. Coupled with my experiences in township government and as a former director of the soil and water conservation district, and past chairman of the Lake-County zoning board of appeals, my qualifications far exceed those of my opponents.

'My Girl' cheery remake

by TOM WITOM

Outside in south suburban Summit, winter was in full force. But within the confines of Candlelight Dinner Playhouse, at least, the weather took a back seat.

"Me and My Girl," a cheery musical comedy first produced in 1937, was radiating its own kind of comforting warmth.

The story line—a Cockney bookmaker inherits fortune and a title (Earl of Hereford) yet refused to abandon his lower-class Lambreth girl friend—is no intellectual milestone of originality. Noel Gay's musical score, which inspired the once popular Lambreth Walk dance, only occasionally some hummable lyrics.

Nevertheless, there are two good reasons for seeing this charming, if somewhat bland, production: James Harms and Paula Scrofano, the solid leads. Veterans to the Chicago area stage, the pair sing and dance through "Me and My Girl" with unbounded enthusiasm.

"Once You Lose Your Heart" and "Leaning on a Lamp post" are endearingly sung. And Harms is a gifted cutup, whether he's mimicking the family matriarch or parading about none too regally in his flowing ermine-accented red velvet robe.

A strong supporting cast adds continuity. Mary Ernster is well cast as Lady Jaqueline, who is out to overwhelm the new earl at all costs. Bill Busch is a piquant lawyer who makes his mark in a minor role; his solo, "Family Solicitor," is uproarious. And Dale Benson also does good work as the long-suffering Sir John.

"Me and My Girl," which won three Tony Awards, will play through June. 24.

Film Review

Now that the Cold War is beginning to look like a thing of the past, Hollywood's film makers will have to start looking for another major "bad guy" for all its spy thrillers.

"The Hunt for Red October," therefore, which follows a Soviet super submarine into U. S. waters, may be the last of a dying breed.

It seems Sean Connery, who plays the commander of the "Red October," wants to defect and turn his "one of a kind" underwater weapon over to the United States.

The Russians send out a hunt and destroy command, enlisting the U. S. in the search "for this madman who intends to fire on the U. S."

One American intelligence officer, played by Alec Baldwin, who met Connery once, suspects the defection intent.

This is a suspenseful thriller with Connery playing a "classy" Soviet and Baldwin stealing the show with his intense performance.

Baldwin should win honors for his fast rise on the big screen, having been featured in seven major films in the last year-and-one-half.

The ending is a smash. We rate this one 4.5 stars out of five.

Be there

All area "Irishmen," on March 17 this means everyone, will be looking to celebrate St. Patrick's Day in a big way since it falls on Saturday this year.

There will be a rip-roaring evening of Irish Blarney featuring Johnny Bernez on the accordion at the Kemper Center in Kenosha. There will be a 6:30 p.m. social hour and a traditional Irish dinner will be served at 7:45 p.m., all for $11 per person.

O'Alex's on Grand Ave. in Fox Lake will be having free snacks, limmerick's galore and a corn beef dinner for $5.95. The second helping is on them. No doggie bags please!

The Colony House in Trevor will have "singin' and howlin' and Irish food with Kathy Kurzenberger on the zither.

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rlan

O'Malley, O'Reilly, O'Brien...O' to be Irish! Those of you whose ancestors began on the Emerald Isle have reason for such unmistakable pride in their heritage that, for at least once a year, make the rest of us green with envy. The Irish spirit is so full of life, fun, happiness and joy. It's wonderful to hang on to these traditions.

Corned beef and cabbage is one of the classics. This is my family's recipe along with a few accompaniments. And a Happy St. Patrick's Day to you...

Classic corned beef and cabbage

- 3-4 lb. corned beef brisket
- 1 stalk celery w/leaves
- 1 onion-whole, peeled and studded w/3 whole cloves
- 6 whole peppercorns
- 6 onions, whole and peeled
- 6 carrots, whole and scraped
- 6 potatoes, peeled
- 6 parsnips, whole and peeled
- 6 cabbage wedges

Place meat in a large deep pot; cover with cold water. Add celery, studded onion and peppercorns. Cover; bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer uncovered three hours or until tender.

Remove meat to a heated platter, cover with foil and place in warm 250 degree oven to keep warm. Discard studded onion and celery keeping cooking liquid. Add onions, carrots and potatoes to the pot of liquid; simmer 20 minutes. Also cook parsnips in water with a dash of salt for 20 minutes. (Cooking separately because of strong cooking flavor, they turn quite sweet and delicious).

Add the cabbage wedges to the pot of vegetables; simmer 15 minutes longer. Slice the corned beef into thin slices, arranging on heated platter. Place carrots, onions, potatoes, parsnips and cabbage in an attractive way next to the meat. Garnish with fresh parsley. Pass the whipped cream-mustard sauce. Serves 6 ordinary people; 2 Irishmen! Soda bread is perfect to serve with corned beef and cabbage. Hot from the oven, cut the round loaf into wedges and spread with whipped butter. Delicious!

Irish Soda Bread

- 1 Tsp. butter, softened
- 4 cups flour (all-purpose)
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 to 1 1/2 cup buttermilk

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. With a pastry brush coat a baking sheet evenly with the tablespoon of softened butter.

Sift the flour, soda and salt together into a deep mixing bowl. Gradually add one cup of the buttermilk, beating constantly with a large spoon until the dough is firm enough to be gathered into a ball. If the dough crumbles, beat up to one-half cup more buttermilk into it by the tablespoon until the particles adhere.

Place the dough on a lightly floured board, and pat and shape it into a flat circular loaf about eight inches in diameter and 1 1/2 inches thick. Set the loaf on the baking sheet. Then with the tip of a small knife, cut a one-half inch deep X into the dough, dividing the top of the loaf into quarters.

Bake the bread in the middle of the oven for about 45 minutes, or until the top is golden brown. Serve at once. Makes one eight-inch loaf.

To 'wet your whistle' this punch should do just that. Irish whiskey, often called the "water of life" in Ireland, adds the special flavoring to this beverage.

Irish whiskey punch

- 2 cups water
- 3/4 to 1 cup sugar
- 6 whole cloves
- 4 (2 x 1/4 inch) strips lemon rind
- 1 (3-inch) stick cinnamon

- 2 cups Irish whiskey
- 1 lemon, sliced

Combine water, sugar, cloves, lemon rind strips and stick cinnamon in a saucepan, and bring to a boil. Boil until sugar dissolves. Reduce heat; remove cloves, lemon rind and cinnamon stick.

Add whiskey to sugar mixture, and cook until thoroughly heated, but not boiling. Pour into cups, and float a lemon slice in each. Serve at once.

Yield: 4 cups.

Col. Bill remembers great Babe Winkelman's start

We were at a Great Lakes Outdoor Writers' conference in Minnesota in 1978 and met an enthusiastic young man who looked like a Viking. He was attending his first writer's conference.

"What should I be doing to get started in the outdoor communications field," he asked, so I invited him to our room that evening for some talk. I'd been around long enough as a board member to pass on some experience that might help.

After a three hour buzz session, we felt really well acquainted with Babe Winkelman. Nobody had heard much about him then, but things sure have changed since.

Babe, with his dynamic drive and personality has risen to the vaulted heights of being recognized as the country's foremost outdoor fishing educator.

Today, his television shows appear on 95 of the top market channels, available to 83 million households in the U.S. and Canada. Watch for him, he's our favorite and his charisma never ceases, on TV or in person. Radio, magazines and syndicated newspaper columns add additional impressions among millions of other fishing enthusiasts.

Last week in Chicago, Winkelman hosted a "Shore Lunch" for the Province of Ontario, Canada. He is their goodwill ambassador.

Prior to the fish dinner, I asked Babe, "How big do you want to grow?" "Bill," he said, "I really need to get a little smaller and am liquidating some of my interests. My goal now is to have two full months a year to spend with my family doing things together."

The drive that made him the nation's top fishing instructor has not destroyed his magnetism nor his sense of values.

We could not be more pleased with his success in such a short time, while maintaining a realistic sense of values for the outdoors, his fellow men and his family.

Representing Ontario, is a big responsibility. Our fall visit made us very aware of its outdoor wilderness beauty, and that is a close neighbor.

We forget that it is twice the size of Texas and 17 percent of its 412,000 square miles is water.

In fact, that name Ontario comes from the Iroquois Indian language and translates to "Beautiful Lake." Toronto, Ontario's capitol, has over two million residents, but its most famous tourist attraction is Niagara Falls.

Some 24 million American tourists visit Ontario each year, which is a greater number than Canada's total population. Call 1(800)668-2746 for visitor information or assistance.

Fishing in Illinois is done on a lesser water surface than Ontario's, but is getting better by the year. March 25 and 25 is the Master's Walleye Circuit on the Illinois River at Spring Valley, Ill. and March 31 to April 1 marks the Ottawa, Ill. Walleye Competition, both are open to local anglers.

Hospitality set on tour

by DENNIS AND MARY O'BRIEN

Home away from home in Nashville for members of the Lakeland Newspapers Tour will be the famous Maxwell House Hotel.

Social center of the mid-south for four generations, the hotel has always been well-known for comfort, service and good food. In fact, a world famous slogan was born when President Teddy Roosevelt visited the Maxwell House in 1907 and declared that the special house blend of coffee was "good to the last drop." It's still proudly served to guests at the hotel's award-winning "Crown Court" restaurant, "Praline's" cafe and "Maxwell's" lounge.

After a long day spent enjoying the sights and sounds of exciting Nashville, tourists will really appreciate the beautifully appointed, comfortable Maxwell House rooms.

Ships From The Golden Age Of Cruising--Some Still Sail Today

by JIM WARNKEN,
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

In the late 1960's, when jet aircraft reduced to six hours what would take six days by sea, the glory days of trans-Atlantic cruise ships were doomed, but what ships those were!

Unlike cruising today, ships were divided by class: upper decks for the elite of the day and the lower decks for the "tourist" traveler. A visit to the Queen Mary, now a floating hotel permanently docked in Los Angeles, will give you an idea of how luxurious these ships were.

First-class travelers could expect gourmet fare as extreme as a choice of eight different kinds of bacon for breakfast! Caviar, champagne and after dinner brandies were served in eloquent paneled smoking rooms. Winter gardens, complete with live greenery, caused one to become oblivious to the cold Atlantic nights. Tourist accommodations, though strictly segregated from first class, differed little.

Regency cruise line's ship, the Regent Star, was the once famous S.S. Statendam, at that time owned by Holland-America.

Chandris's the Victoria was christened the Dunnotar Castle back in 1936.

The Bermuda Star was first known as the Argentina, then the Veendam and also the Monarch Star.

Carnival's Mardi Gras was once the Empress of Canada. Carnival's first ship, the Carnivale was known as the Empress of Britain, then the Queen Anna Maria of Greek Lines.

While cruising may not be quite as luxurious as days past, it is now affordable by anyone.

'Threepenny Opera' set for stage at Bowen Park

Kurt Weill's "Threepenny Opera" will be presented by the Bowen Park Opera Co. March 23, 24, 30 and 31 at 8 p.m., and March 25 and April 1 at 7 p.m., in Goodfellow Hall at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Waukegan.

The production is the original Mack the Knife story complete with the hit song of the same name. The Bowen Park Opera Co. performance comes during a time of the celebration of Weill's 90th birthday. Other outstanding presentations include the premiere screening of the "Threepenny Opera" in Chicago.

Weill's music was very popular in Germany but the rise of the Nazi regime boded poorly for his work. He traveled to the United States and became an extremely successful Broadway musical composer. "Threepenny Opera" was staged in America with little success until it was adapted by Marc Blitzstein in a new English translation. That version has met with tremendous success and has become the standard to American productions since its introduction in 1954.

Everyday St. Pat's in Dublin, Ireland

by MARY O'BRIEN

In truth, Dublin is a village. Her 1,000,000 inhabitants carry on their business most effectively, but without big city hustle.

In the city of Swift and Wilde, Yeats and Joyce, George Bernard Shaw and Brendan Behan, conversation is a fine art and people always seem to have time for the extra pleasantries or two.

Even the registration clerk at the Shelbourne, noticing the Irish surname of a U.S. registrant, looked up, peered over his pince-nez glasses and intoned, "Sure now, you should be livin' here, not visitin'."

Robert Briscoe, former Lord Mayor of Dublin, once said of his countrymen, "In Dublin, the danger of everlasting friendship lurks in each passing glance."

So take a walk down O'Connell St. or through St. Stephen's Green. Stop now and then for "a cool one" or "a bite of tea." And as you walk, look into the faces of the people you meet. Be they redheaded and freckled, or with that fine, romantic look, their eyes are atwinkle, and if you're Irish, you'll know you've come home. If you're not Irish, you'll know you've found the friendliest people in the world.

a comedy by Jack Sharkey

This clever comedy is about a middle-aged corporate president who has only been married a year, but who lives in very modest surroundings with a wife who thinks he is a fork-lift operator at the factory he actually owns. Why she believes this and how the secret becomes unraveled contribute to the hilarious happenings in this show that originally starred Kaye Ballard.

ANSWER: Pricing is the most vital element in the selling process. Being an experienced broker, I know what's going on. I KNOW what sellers are really getting for homes like yours. Pulling an abnormally high price out of a hat may be one thing, but that price has to be justified. I can prepare a comparative market analysis to convince any doubtful prospect that your home is WORTH what you're asking. I can cite similar homes that have gone for this price - or more. That's why I'll get you the best possible selling price. Remax agents complete 3 times more transactions per year than any other real estate agent.

Forest Preserve saves valuable wetland from destruction

Long Lake civic leaders are lauding action taken by the Land Acquisition Committee of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. to designate for purchase approximately 80 acres of high grade wetland located at the southeast corner of the lake where Squaw Creek enters the lake.

"We're pleased that the committee recognized both the ecological and strategic value of this valuable resource," declared William Kercher, president of the Long Lake Improvement and Sanitation Assn. who made a formal request for acquisition at a meeting at the district's Libertyville headquarters.

The parcel, mostly marsh or under the lake, is owned by Albert Barthel of Ingleside, who acquired the parcel from the Lutheran Council of Greater Chicago last year. Approximately three to five acres is considered dry land. The entire island parcel is rated floodway or flood plain.

It is what Barthel has done with the small dry parcel that galvanized the association into action to acquire for public use. Barthel obtained a permit last summer from the Lake County Building Dept. to clear brush. Neighbors and the association objected to his erection of an electric fence and construction of temporary structures which they said violates floodplain use.

Kercher told committee members that Barthel's use is setting a dangerous precedent considering that his land and nearby wetlands are the only filtering system for the Mud Lake watershed that extends to points as far away as Evanston and Wauconda. The watershed is the largest in the county, encompassing some 25,000 acres.

"We've got to keep that area in a natural state to protect the water quality in Long Lake," Kercher stated.

Dr. Sander Sundberg, a resident of Long Lake who is a self employed water quality consultant, testified that the highest and best use is as a natural area. Sundberg pointed out that the eco system also includes a 300-acre area known as Lake Lure south of Rte. 134 that has been targeted for development by Lexington Homes. Lake Lure lies within the village limits of Round Lake.

Kercher state that Barthel acquired the parcel, now zoned agriculture, for $1,800. Barthel has housed a horse on the island since last summer.

Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Suzie Schmidt of Lake Villa, said "by allowing the wetland to be degraded, access is being gained for development."

Dist. 2 County Board Rep. John Balen of Waukegan moved for acquisition and Schmidt seconded. The motion immediately sparked a debate on procedure spearheaded by Dist. 5 Rep. Andrea Moore of Libertyville and Dist. 1 Rep. Rick Price of Lake Forest, who said the committee was violating its own rules by not presenting more documentation and study.

Dist. 1 Rep. Jim Mitchell of Highland Park declared that state and federal agencies support protection of strategically located wetlands. Mitchell moved for suspension of the rules so the committee could act at the March 9 meeting.

Kercher said he was disappointed that Dist. 4 Rep. Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake was absent from the meeting. "We would have liked to have her support seeing as how the land is located in her district," Kiesgen was listed as absent and there was no indication why she did not attend the meeting.

Both motions carried 8-3 with Moore, Price and Dist. 3 Rep. Eleanor Rostron of Zion voting no.

The elegant and sprawling Colfax is made for a family who wants more than the basics.

From the outside, glass windows stretch the length of both stories, giving the home a cathedral look. Inside, the four-bedroom, three-bath house features every creature comfort, from pantry to French doors off the master suite.

Colfax visitors find the foyer the gateway to the house. To the right lays the formal entertaining area. To the left, awaits the more casual familyroom and kitchen. And to the north, stairs lead to the second floor, which contains three guest bedrooms and a full bath.

Guests to the downstairs living room gaze outside through tall, stylish windows. The dining room blends into this sunlit arena. French doors lead from the dining room to a wood deck overlooking the back yard.

Over in the blue jean section, kids can romp in the family room while the cook prepares dinner on the eating bar in the gourmet kitchen. This allows the chef to be part of the conversation and part of the intimacy. A utility room complete with a laundry shoot sits off the family room on the way to the two-car garage.

Behind the family room is a master suite that opens onto the deck through beautiful French doors. A cavernous walk-in closet makes dressing and undressing easy. And a separate full bath for the man and woman of the house ensures them their privacy.

Upstairs inhabitants can peer down to the first floor while leaning on the railing. All three bedrooms empty into a main upstairs hall. Linen closets and a twin-sink vanity bathroom make second-story living easy.

For a study plan of the COLFAX (228-13), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Bowling Tourney

Each year, the Knights of Columbus holds a bowl-a-thon in order to kickoff the drive to collect funds for aiding the mentally retarded. This year the event, the Frank J. Ogrin Memorial Bowl-a-Thon, will be held on Sunday, March 18 at the Bowlerium Lanes in North Chicago beginning at 1 p.m. Anyone who would like to join the Knights should obtain a pledge sheet prior to the event from the Knights of Columbus Hall at 616 Washington St. in Waukegan, or by calling Phil Balog at (708) 360-8671.

Spring Leagues

Spring is just around the corner and "All Stars" Sports Bar in Park City is gearing up for the coming season. Softball and volleyball leagues are competing six days a week. There are men's and women's and co-ed leagues in softball and volleyball. New this year, weekly money tournaments with a limited number of teams competing will be offered in each sport. For complete information, call "All Stars" Sports Hot Line at (708) 623-5826.

Top Honors

Wauconda arm wrestler Ken Borowski won first place honors at the Illinois Co-Ed Wrist Wrestling tournament held in Waukegan. Borowski beat seven opponents and will now vie for the national honors in October near Reno, Nevada. A carpenter, he is a member of the Midwest Arm Wrestling Club.

Hot Shooter

Mundelein High School graduate Jay Retzinger contributed a game-winning three-point shot as the Flyers topped Indianapolis a 77-75. His shot hit the bull's-eye with two seconds left. He was ranked 10th in Great Lakes Valley Conference leaders in three-point field goal percentage. After 25 games, he averaged 7.6 points a game.

Some 1,400 fans watched the Chicago Bears show their skills in basketball Saturday night at Round Lake Senior High Schools. The Bears entertained fans by beating the Round Lake staffers. Jim Thorton muscles in for two points against Brian Brown, left. Brown is an assistant varsity basketball coach at Round Lake. Event was sponsored as a fundraiser for the Panther Pushers. ## Scouts' defense ends Warren's tourney hopes

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The timing seemed almost cruel for the Warren Twp. High School boys' basketball team.

As the team's school bus pulled into the Gurnee school's parking lot, the sign gave the time, temperature and ticket information for last Wednesday's sectional clash against Lake Forest.

"Go Blue!" the sign concluded.

The Blue Devils had just fallen to Lake Forest 51-48 in the sectional opener at Waukegan East to finish the season at 16-12.

"This team at one time was 10-11 but it pulled itself by its bootstraps, won its last four games in the conference and a regional," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said.

The loss was the third overall to the scouts this season. The second-place team in the North Suburban Conference (17-8) had advanced to the sectional championship by forcing Warren into an uncommon mistake for the Devils in the tourney - turnovers. Warren had 18 to Lake Forest's 10 for the game, but four when the game was on the line in the fourth quarter. "Turnovers killed us at the end," Bader said.

"We just stayed out on the perimeter to defend the three-point shots. In the first half, they were penetrating so we played the passing lanes and started to intercept their passes," Lake Forest Coach Tom Olson said.

Lake Forest's one-two punch of Robert Bice and Alan Benes had 17 and 14 points, respectively. The Scouts were paced on defense by guard David Hoffman, who set the tone early with steals.

Huffhines finished with 14 points and Dave Spiller had 10.

For Lake Forest, earning a shot at powerful Hersey was a case of continuing success for the school. "I believe that success breeds success," Olson said.

Warren's guard Craig Shelton picked up three fouls in the first half, but Olson said that was not a factor.

Lake Forest, which beat Warren by the same margin in the second NSC game, started fast, with leads of 6-0 and 10-5 at the outset.

But Warren, led by senior Dave Huffhines, got back in the game with his three-pointer and earned a 10-10 tie after one.

Neither club could get the momentum in the second quarter as the two teams exchanged hoops. Warren gained its first lead of the game at 20-19 on a Huffhines hoop as Warren started the quarter five-for-seven from the field.

Warren guard Spiller's performance in the third quarter earned praise from Olson. After a shaky start in the first half, Spiller scored 10 third quarter points. Warren's first free-throw of the game, by Huffhines, gave the Blue Devils a 35-34 lead.

Warren's fans may have felt confident going into the final eight minutes. Warren's basketball teams, after all, had won six games - two by the girls and four by the boys - at the East gym over the last few years.

Warren led 46-43 on a layup by Byron Reynolds. But Reynolds missed a free throw which would have put Warren up by four. The offense then stopped there with 4:13 left.

In the next three minutes, Warren would miss four shots, and commit three turnovers. In the stands, a Warren fan would faint.

Lake Forest was not exactly running away with the contest. Running an effective slowdown offense, the Scouts forced Warren to foul.

Bice, a 6-6 center, was the main threat for Lake Forest. His driving layup brought the Scouts to within one at 46-45. He then made four straight free throws, the last coming with 33 seconds left.

Lake Forest allowed an uncontested Shelton layup with :13 left. But Hoffman then broke the Warren press with a fastbreak layup for a 51-48 lead.

Mark Sasser, who Bader said played a good game on defense, got the ball to Huffhines.

Huffhines had an open shot at the basket for a three-point play, but unlike a shot by Dave Sjong a few years ago in the sectional final in the same gym, this one fell a couple of feet short.

Warren won the rebounding battle, 31-22. The closeness of the two squads was also reflected in the shooting percentages. Warren was 14-for-47 for 38 percent. Lake Forest was one percent better, 21-for-53.

Following the contest, Bader thanked the large Warren fan contingent for their support. But somehow it seemed an early end to Warren's season.

NSC standouts help EIU

The Eastern Illinois University baseball team features an Adlai Stevenson High School graduate and a Warren Twp. High School graduate on its roster.

D.J. McCullough is one of three candidates to see action as a catcher for the Panthers, who opened the season against Murray State.

"Our biggest question mark is catching. That's a major link in determining how successful we will be," Coach Dan Callahan said.

The Panthers have six catchers on their pre-season roster, with two juniors and four freshmen.

The Warren grad is Brent Howard, a shortstop.

Foss shows NIU way to first tourney showing

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

"If it is a dream, I hope I wake up with a ring on my finger," Lisa Foss said confidently.

Foss, a Lake Zurich High School graduate, completed step one of her pre-season dream Sunday night when the Northern Illinois University women's basketball team officially made the NCAA tournament for the first time. The ring, Foss is hoping, will be worn in the University of Tennessee, site of the women's Final Four.

The Huskies, champions of the North Star Conference, played Texas Tech at home Wednesday in a first-round game. Traditional powerhouse Louisiana Tech is in the same bracket, but for a few hours Sunday afternoon, there was a time of celebration in DeKalb.

Foss, a starting guard for the huskies, was the leading scorer with 21 points in a high-powered offensive attack which produced a 97-85 win over the arch-rival Blue Demons.

Foss, who has kept the No. 10 on her jersey since her Northwest Suburban Conference days, agreed the offense is at a high point after almost reaching the century mark against DePaul. The team is the top-scoring women's team in the country, averaging 95.3 points a game.

"The ultimate goal is to go to the NCAA," Foss said.

That was on the agenda, but the Huskies had to keep a focus through a tough schedule which sent them to all corners of the nation.

Foss, who was red-shirted last year with a knee injury, returned with a 32 point outing against Minnesota back in November.

"When Lisa scored 32 points against Minnesota we said 'Lisa is back'. We forgot that she was out a year. Now she can help people around her be better. She is playing the best ball I've seen her play," NIU Coach Jane Albright said of Foss.

Lisa Foss

For Foss, who has her Bears number hanging on the wall at LZHS, the junior season has included a No. 46 national ranking in scoring with a 19.7 points a game average in mid February. She was also All NSC in 1988, two-time NSC Player-of-the-Week selection and was the third leading scorer and No. 2 assist maker on the NIU top-25 ranked team. Her impressive resume includes being the youngest player to exceed 1,000 points at the DeKalb school.

As for the NSC tournament itself, Foss scored 14 points on six-for-13 shooting in a 102-79 blitz over Valparaiso in the first round.

She scored her first points on two free throws for a 17-12 lead in the first half and then hit a baseline jumper for a 19-14 cushion. Foss had six points at halftime.

Carol Owens, who heads the NIU scoring charts at 21.6 points a game, scored 31 points in the opener.

In the third contest against DePaul for the season, Foss battled Blue Demons' guards throughout the foggy night.

Foss was crystal clear in her eight-for-17 shooting night. Foss gave NIU a 12-11 lead on her first basket three minutes into the game.

Foss continued to extend the NIU lead a few seconds later. She hit two free throws for a 10-point cushion at 25-15 and finished with 12 points as NIU led 48-33 at intermission.

The former LZ record holder also had a big role in running an offense which had just three turnovers as opposed to DePaul's 13.

The home crowd of more than 4,000 at Chick Evans Field House saw the favorites extend the lead to 25 points. Denise Dove, Foss's teammate at guard, hit two free throws for a 71-46 romping.

"When you begin coaching, that's what you want to do," NIU Coach Jane Albright, in her sixth season, said of NIU making the 48 team "Big Dance" of women's basketball.

"We got their the hard way," Albright said, noting there is no automatic bid for the NSC.

Potential Cinderella misses the Big Dance

by VINCE VITTORE
Lakeland Newspapers

For a few minutes, the Antioch Sequoits looked like they could have become the Cinderella team of the IHSA basketball play-offs.

But unlike the fairy tale, the shoe just didn't fit nor did Cinderella even get to the Big Dance. Instead the Sequoits ran into a physical and dead-eye shooting stepmother named Fremd.

The Vikings used their size advantage inside and two free throws from Scott Schulz with five seconds remaining in overtime to down the Sequoits 60-59 in overtime in the semifinals of the Fremd sectional.

The loss ended a season that saw the Sequoits win their last six out of eight games and close out the season with an 11-18 record.

Despite the overtime loss, second-year Coach Jeff Dresser said he was pleased with the Sequoits performance in the final minutes of regulation.

"I thought we had the momentum going into the overtime," he said. "We just ran out of gas."

Fremd had taken a 48-41 lead with five minutes left in regulation and appeared to be coasting to an easy win when the Sequoits' Jeff Becker exploded for 10 points in less than a minute.

The turn-around electrified the crowd of almost 2,500, most of whom had come to see Antioch.

Fremd's Ken Fiedler, who finished the game with a team-high 22 points, brought the Vikings back to life with two straight buckets.

Fiedler opened up overtime with four free throws. An off-balance Becker three pointer from the corner that would have tied the game bounced off the rim and into the hands of Schulz who was immediately fouled. Schulz sunk both ends of the bonus to put the game out of reach with five seconds left.

A Becker shot from near mid-court at the buzzer put the final at 59-60.

"We got a little impatient at the end," Dresser said. "They saw where our weaknesses were and took advantage of them."

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: What is conjunctivitis?

ANSWER: Conjunctivitis, also known as "pink eye," is a term used to describe the inflammation of the conjunctive, a thin, filmy membrane that produces mucus to lubricate the eye's surface. The conjunctive is filled with tiny blood vessels. When it becomes inflamed, these blood vessels enlarge and become more visible, hence the term pink eye. Other symptoms include discharge from the eyes and itching. These symptoms last for up to two weeks.

Conjunctivitis may be caused by bacterial infections or viruses. Both types are highly contagious among children and adults. Other people should take great care to avoid coming into contact with discharge from the patient's eyes.

Because bacterial and viral conjunctivitis are treated with different techniques and medications, people with pink eye symptoms should visit an ophthalmologist for diagnosis and treatment.

State Bank of Antioch to host 8th Home Improvement Fair

The Eighth Annual Home Improvement Fair, sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch, will take place on Friday, March 16 from 4 to 8 p.m. and Saturday, March 17 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Antioch VFW, North Ave.

The bank's two-day event began in 1983 to encourage consumers to consider the advantage of doing business with 20 contractors and home enhancement specialists who had well-established businesses in the greater Antioch area and could offer satisfied customers as referrals.

The fair was held on several levels of the bank interior until 1987, when relocation to the Antioch VFW Hall on North Ave. offered the opportunity to expand the number of exhibits and variety of products and services.

"We're hoping that Mother Nature has also marked her calendar for the 16th and 17th," said Wally Jaskowski, bank vice president, "because signs of spring and good weather make our fair a good place to browse for all those improvement ideas."

In addition to immediate availability of project ideas, cost estimates and bank financing information from lending officers, consumers will enjoy free refreshments and popcorn, and register for valuable door prizes offered by the bank and individual exhibitors. No purchase necessary, and winners need not be present at Saturday's 3 p.m. drawing.

QUESTION: How can you help me to price my home correctly?

ANSWER: Pricing is the most vital element in the selling process. Being an experienced broker, I know what's going on. I KNOW what sellers are really getting for homes like yours. Pulling an abnormally high price out of a hat may be one thing, but that price has to be justified. I can prepare a comparative market analysis to convince any doubtful prospect that your home is WORTH what you're asking. I can cite similar homes that have gone for this price - or more. That's why I'll get you the best possible selling price. Remax agents complete 3 times more transactions per year than any other real estate agent.

I personally endorse Charlotte "Char" Kiesgen for retention as a Member of Lake County Board District #4, and further recommend that the voters of the Village of Fox Lake, Grant, Antioch, Avon and Lake Villa Townships seriously consider casting their vote for Char for the following reasons:

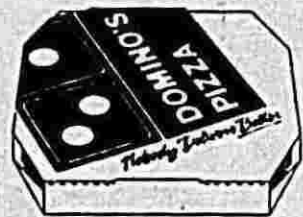

1. Char is our direct representative for our area on the County Board.
2. Char has lived all her married life in Grant Township, owns a home here, has raised her children here, has her roots here and is personally interested in the betterment of our western Lake County area.
3. She has four years experience as a County Board member, and during her tenure has always devoted her attention and participation on the Board in the best interest of our community.
4. She lives here, is readily accessible to her constituents, and her door is always open.
